Pond Pro Shop is a Division of Unit Liner Company and because of that we have such wonderful support and encouragement from our "sister Divisions". There are seven Divisions in Unit Liner Company at this time. We at Pond Pro are a small sampling of the Company, but we always tell people we are the "best looking sample". Many of the other Divisions are hidden away in offices only getting out at shows, jobsites etc., whereas we have opportunities every day to meet and greet the most interesting people. Customer service and safety both are held in high regard with all Unit Liner Divisions. As most of you know who have had the need, we take care of 90% of the warranties when you just need to return your defective merchandise that is under manufacturer's warranty and we replace it. There are very few exceptions when the vendors themselves choose to handle their own warranties. There are over 45 manufacturers supplying product to our Company and because of the volume that we all use, we were able this season to lower many prices, or to keep the prices very competitive even with you internet shoppers.

In addition to what we carry in the warehouse for the maintenance, upkeep, or building of your ponds, etc., we have new product continually coming in from Markets that just add to the ambiance of your back yard. If you have not seen or handled the new "Universal Rock" you will be impressed. Originally created by the "Bloke from Down Under" in Australia, they now are made in our USA. These "rocks" are formed from real rock and have the character of such with all the cracks and crevices. Stained to look just like the rocks in our area, and will stand up to even being nicked by weedeaters. We even have the "preformed ponds" that look like natural rock and not the "black rubber trend". I believe these will do very well. As of now we only have two sizes but will later get multiple sizes of the ponds. We have many rocks for landscaping, rocks that are plumbed for "bubblers", waterfall rocks that will be a great addition to an existing pond or in some cases and type of water containment just a waterfall to back up on your deck or patio. We have utility rocks to cover unsightly meters "in your front yard". We will have tunnels to go down in your ponds for the safety of your fish that look like an old tree trunk. We have a large prototype of the tree trunk tunnel in Macee's Creek now. There's a picture below. In some of our display ponds are floating alligators/crocodiles with glass eyes (pretty realistic) to put in your ponds anchored loosely to a rock so it moves with the water ripples. These are proven predator discouragers. Best thing, all can be lifted by one or two individuals. Come experience Universal Rock.

Tips and Tricks

Only feed your fish what they can eat within a two to three minute period no more than two times per day. Any food that is uneaten should be removed from the pond by using a net. If you're finding food in the skimmer basket, you're feeding too much. Excess food can contribute to unwanted algae growth. Be observant of their eating patterns. If fish are not eating it may be an indicator of fish stress unless they are new to the pond.
